

APB239 : Project and Portfolio III: Audio Production

The Project and Portfolio III: Audio Production course combines hands-on learning experiences with summative and formative portfolio assessments. In this course, students will create a recording comparable to a songwriter's demo. This course will draw on previous topics such as recording, editing, mixing, and musical structure. Students will be required to create and adhere to a production plan that emulates highly compressed real-world deadlines. The finished product will be a portfolio-ready recording.
