

MAN630 : Executive Leadership

This course examines the qualities necessary to be an executive leader in today's entertainment business field. Various industries are examined to ensure an understanding of a given industry's leadership styles and traits. Students explore effective decision-making processes, power and influence, mentoring, leading organizational change, and investing in and managing relationships to achieve business goals.

Credits 3.5