

DEV2319 : Interfaces and Usability

The Interfaces and Usability course focuses on fundamental interaction-design and usability principles coupled with proven user interface-design patterns. Applying the concepts learned in this course will increase students' ability to create effective user experiences and understand how user behavior and interaction influence information architecture and design.

Credits 3

Course Length 4 weeks

Please note: This course must be successfully completed within 2-attempts. Students unable to successfully complete the course within 2-attempts will be dismissed from the program.