

GRD162 : Concepts in Photography

In the Concepts in Photography course, students will learn basic camera operation while focusing on postproduction techniques to improve the quality of their images. Students will learn strategies in file management and metadata that will build their professional production workflow. In this course, students will be asked to shoot and present their work over various delivery platforms. The design concepts reinforced in this course can be applied across all types of media.

Credits 4