

MPB239 : Project and Portfolio III: Music Production

The Project and Portfolio III: Music Production course combines hands-on learning experiences with summative and formative portfolio assessments. In this course, students will showcase their musical sensibilities and engineering skills through the writing and production of an original song. Informed by popular music history and culture, this industry-standard demo project will capture each student's unique talents and perspective.

Credits 3