CTI4751 : Software-Driven Data Centers

In the Software-Driven Data Centers course, students will finish building a network system. Students will create and measure the performance of virtualized data to complete a software-driven data center, providing insight on the critical issues concerning virtualized distributed data.

Credits 4