DGT461 : Motion Graphics Production

The Motion Graphics Production course trains students in advanced techniques of motion-graphics creation through the use of software programs utilized by design and animation companies worldwide. This course emphasizes design from a problem-solving point of view as well as the production-timeline and graphical requirements of a motion-graphics campaign project. Students will work on their own projects, demonstrating competence in the areas of image compositing and motion graphics.

Credits 4