

ECW2953 : Publishing and Distribution

Students in the Publishing and Distribution course will learn how to publish and distribute their screenplays, television shows, comic books, videogame scripts, and novels. Students will demonstrate their understanding of the evolution of the entertainment industry, including the process through which projects are developed, produced, and distributed.

Credits 4