

MDV3832 : Android Development I

The Android Development I course builds on the programming knowledge students have gained in prior courses to prepare them to develop Android applications. Students will explore the core concepts of Android programming interfaces as well as prepare to deploy to and integrate with Android environments.

Credits 4