

SMM3934 : Mobility Technology and Marketing

The Mobility Technology and Marketing course introduces students to mobility technology through the eye of strategic sports marketing, including mobile applications and their use, activation, and revenue-generating opportunities. Students will also explore the fundamentals of mobile-phone content development. Students will apply their knowledge of design, research, entrepreneurship, and business development to the mobile arena.

Credits 3