

WDV4424 : Application Integration and Security

The Application Integration and Security course examines the factors of access control, roles, logging, and auditing within web applications. Students will integrate external authentication sources and single sign-on providers into an existing application. Dynamics such as data retention, user data privacy, data localization, and regulatory requirements will be investigated. Students will recognize how these aspects influence application design and deployment strategies and apply this insight to their future development work.

Credits 4